

GFM BACK CHANNEL COMMUNICATION GUIDE

There may come a time when our ability to communicate with each other is severely reduced by outages, internet controls, or system failures.

We need to be able to maintain communication with each other to inform each other of vital intel or distribute plans of action.

We recommend everyone have as many alternative forms of connecting with each other as possible.

The GFM is based on the decentralization principles, and they apply to each individual using their own resources and time to prepare themselves and their families accordingly for survival, revolutionary action, communication, and protecting their property.

Every Freedom Fighter in the GFM should do their best to check off every item in this list, as well as the Prepper Guide Checklist and the Revolution Item Checklist in order to be as prepared and equipped as possible.
